THE COURT HOUSE

Remodeled and Greatly Improved for Fall Court.

Improvements About Complete And Will Soon Be Ready For Occupancy.

The extensive improvements that have been in progress on the Christian county court house for three months are nearing completion, and the remodeled building will be ready for occupancy in a few days. Its lateral arrangements have been completely changed. The large vestibule, formerly used for the stairways on either side, has been utilized for additional office rooms, and the steps now go up from the main hallway, in two flights.

The court room above has been repaired and repainted and is greatly improved in appearance. The outside of the building has not been changed, except that a new and larger clock tower has been built, and the whole building given a new coat of paint.

The court house in Hopkinsville was burned by Gen. H. B. Lyon, in his raid from Paris, Tenn., to Litchfield, Ky., in December 1864. Ours was one of a dozen court-houses destroyed because he found them occupied by union soldiers as headquarters.

In 1869 a new and better building was put up and it has been several times improved and changed more or less in the last 34 years. The repairs this summer have been more extensive than at any time heretofore, and the county now has one of the best and handsomest courthouses to be found in the State.

County Clerk Prowse and County Judge Fowler have been temporarily occupying the old Planters Bank building. They will return to their rooms in the court house in a few days.

HART DISCHARGED.

Negro Boy Who Killed Jabin White Goes Free.

Lewis Hart, the negro boy who killed Jabin White, another boy about his size, two weeks ago, had his examining trial before Judge W. T. Fowler yesterday and was discharged.

Hart is about 14 years old, small and very black. He put in a plea of self defense and proved by several witnesses that the other boy had threatened to kill him and was carrying a pistol for him at the time he shot him.

The boys both lived at Mr. Howard Brame's, near Howell. The Hart boy had been in jail since his arrest. He went to his home in the country yesterday afternoon.

HENDERSON GRAY.

Todd County Couple Wedded Yesterday.

Mr. Albert Sydney Henderson and Miss Maude Gray, a young couple from Todd county, came to the city yesterday and procured license to wed. The ceremony was performed by Judge W. T. Fowler in his office, and they left for their home near Fairview.

Dixie Has a Pup.

The city's bloodhound, "Dixie," has a pup and great excitement prevails around the police headquarters in consequence. The addition to the city's canine stock is a female and jet black. Her sire was "Old King," the celebrated bound of Morganfield. Judge Bell and Chief Armstrong have been appointed a committee to select a name for the mascot.

Colored Man Dead.

Henry Young, an old colored man about 60 years old, died Saturday at the home of Jesse Martin, on the Greenville road.

BUSINESS MEN

Put Out a Ticket of Independent Democrats.

Telephone Issue Causes a Movement For a New City Council.

An organized movement in favor of cheaper telephones and better telephone service, which had been taking shape for some time for a year or more in fact, culminated Friday night in the nomination of a Business Men's ticket in several wards of the city, in which contests will be made. The KENTUCKIAN learns from business men who participated in the meeting that representative citizens and leading Democrats from every ward in the city were present and united in the opinion that a better city government, in many respects, could be secured by the united action of business men, since the Republicans have not put a ticket in the field for a number of years, and announce that they will not do so this year. One of the leading supporters of the ticket made this statement:

"The present city council has declined to sell a telephone franchise, fixing a maximum schedule of rates, the franchise of the Cumberland Telephone Company expired August 3, 1902. It will be remembered that such a franchise was sold in July, 1902, to parties representing the Home Company, which the Cumberland people fought bitterly before the council, openly and boldly, and its attorney succeeded in having the franchise rejected after it had been sold by the mayor and paid for.

There was much indignation at the time and in the face of public opinion a majority of the council coolly entered into an arrangement under which the Cumberland has been protected from possible competition and is still doing business at its old rates, without material modification, although no franchise has been sold to take the place of the old one. The business men of the city do not believe they can get relief from the telephone monopoly unless a new council is elected and so the ticket was nominated. It is made up of men who are worth in the aggregate several hundred thousand dollars, and every man on the ticket is a Democrat.

An effort was made to get away as far as possible from politics and political factions. Two of the present councilmen, whose records were acceptable to the business interest of the city, were endorsed. These were Councilmen J. B. Jackson and J. G. Duncan, of the Sixth and Seventh wards.

The other four were selected equally from the supporters of Bush and Cook. Mr. M. C. Forbes in the Second and Mr. B. W. Harrod in the Third wards, were for Bush and Mr. Walter S. Elgin and Ex-Mayor F. W. Dabney, of the First and Fourth wards, voted for Junge Cook. They are good and representative men and staunch Democrats who will be free from outside controlling influences of every kind and give their attention to the best interest of the city."

Another gentleman in discussing the telephone issue said:

"The election of the business men's ticket will on the one item of telephones save the people at least $4,000 or $5,000 a year. It was shown by Mr. R. E. Cooper's able argument before the council last year, as a representative of the business men, that Hopkinsville subscribers are forced to pay at least 50 cents more per month than other cities of similar size and conditions. There are 700 or more subscribers in the Hopkinsville exchange and a little mathematics will demonstrate that the people are paying about $350 or $400 a month more than the service is worth in other cities. Besides, the Cumberland is capitalized at several million dollars and has moved its home office to this city, it is said, to escape franchise taxes in Nashville.

If required to pay franchise taxes here, it would reduce the taxes of every person in the city more than one half. Don't you think the people are right in rising up against such a protected monopoly, when competing companies are begging to enter the city, under the provisions of the constitution? The home company has invaded the county with a line from Clarksville to Lafayette.

It is spreading into all parts of the Cumberland's territory, except Hopkinsville, and wherever it goes telephone rates drop and the service is made more efficient. It is a question far more important than politics this year, and besides both sides have about all the politics on hand they can handle, without engaging in ward politics."

These expressions will give the reader an idea of the objects of the movement, which has already developed a great deal of strength.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

Ernest Whipple Stops a Bullet Near Herndon.

Meager details of a shooting that occurred near Herndon Saturday have been received. A negro named Ernest Whipple, on Southall place, had a pistol which he loaned to another negro, who was handling it in Whipple's presence when it went off and Whipple was shot and painfully but not seriously wounded. The shooting was accidental.

POWERS CASE

About Ready to Go to the Jury.

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 22.—Jim Howard was called to the stand in the Powers trial this afternoon. He denied ever having known or even seen Henry Youtsey before they were thrown together in the jail at Frankfort, charged with the same crime. He told on cross-examination the story he has told on each of his three trials. His cross examination was not concluded upon the adjournment of Monday and he will be recalled on Monday.

The defense will rest its case by noon, Monday, but before doing so may call to the witness stand former Governor Bradley and Gen. Basil Duke.

The jury will be taken Monday afternoon or Tuesday morning to Frankfort to view the scene of the tragedy.

Much time in court this afternoon was taken up in proving the alleged good character of the body of mountain men which visited Frankfort on January 25, 1900.

The defense late this afternoon took an attachment for ex-State Treasurer Walter Day, of Breathitt county, who had been summoned but did not appear to testify.

The depositions of W. S. Taylor, Chas. Finley and other fugitives, were used by the defense to offset Youtsey's testimony.

To Whom It May Concern,

To quiet all uneasiness and stop reports intended to injure me in my race for Councilman, I state unequivocally that I shall not attempt to get the council to pass an ordinance permitting me to run a switch across Main and Virginia streets connecting with either the I. C. or the L. & N. railroads.

Respectfully,
M. C. FORBES.

Biggest Yet.

Mr. John Greenwood, of South Christian, brought to town yesterday the largest apple of the season. It measured 14 1/2 inches in circumference and weighed more than one pound.

Do You Know Mme. Qui Vive?

Probably you do, for Mme. Qui Vive has a national reputation as an inspiring friend of every woman with a beauty view. Her "Woman Beautiful" department in the daily and Sunday issues of the Chicago Record-Herald is a perennial source of joyous helpfulness to womanhood. Her instructions on complexion ills are interlarded here and there with snappy little epigrams as "cheerers." The weapons she suggests to beauty seekers for the complete annihilation of beauty grievances do not include artificial methods—factory frizzes, rouge and other horrors being barred. She gives instructions on correct breathing, what to eat, how to bathe—in brief, how to become a healthy, wholesome woman. No wonder she is popularly known to many thousands of women.

THE DAY AFTER.

Epoch-Making Period of Time That Calls for Recognition.

It is a strange omission that the Day After, supreme and epoch-making period of time, should have failed to receive the homage which is its just prerogative.

The Quinsey, says the Atlantic, in his powerful bit of word painting entitled "The Knocking at the Gate," dwells on the thought that in Macbeth, the climax of the tragedy, the moment most truly fraught with terror is not the one in which occurs the murder of Duncan, or when the guilty pair nerve themselves for its accomplishment, but the moment when the first knocking at the gate is heard. With that summons from without comes an instant and terrible realization of what has taken place. In that moment of horror is condensed all the meaning of past crime and future perdition—in a lightning flash.

The magnitude of what has happened cannot be measured until the first touch of reaction has been felt. We cannot tell what has really occurred till the Day After.

Dysentery Cured Without the Aid of a Doctor.

"I am just up from a hard spell of the flux (dysentery)," says Mr. F. A. Plummer, a keen merchant of Drummond, Tenn. "I used one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was cured without having a doctor. I consider it the best cholera medicine in the world. There is no need of employing a doctor when this remedy is used, for no doctor can prescribe a better medicine for bowel complaint in any form either for children, or adults. It never fails and is perfectly safe. For sale by C. K. Wyly."

Condition is critical.

The condition of Louis Salsburg is critical, and his trouble is complicated by nervous prostration.

Physicians and Druggists.

Ford & Sturgeon, a prominent drug firm at Rocky Hill Station, Ky., writes: "We were requested by Dr. G. B. Sugley to send for Herbine for the benefit of our customers. We ordered three dozen in December and we are glad to say, Herbine has given such great satisfaction that we have duplicated this order three times, and today we gave your salesman another order. We beg to say Dr. G. B. Sugley takes pleasure in recommending Herbine." See bottle at R. C. Hardwick's.

The Russian squadron reached Constantinople.

Mrs. Mollie Allen, of South Fork, Ky., says she has prevented attacks of cholera morbus by taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets what she felt an attack coming on. Such attacks are usually caused by indigestion and these tablets are just what is needed to cleanse the stomach and ward off the approaching attack. Attacks of bilious colic may be prevented in the same way. For sale by C. K. Wyly, druggist.

Race War at Whitewright.

A race war is threatened at Whitewright, Tex., as the result of the assault of negroes on a white woman. Nearly all the negroes are leaving the town to avoid trouble.

A New Idea.

A new idea has been evolved in Chicago for the management of bankrupt estates. According to this plan, the creditors of a bankrupt concern incorporate to run its affairs.

When you want a physic that is mild and gentle, easy to take and certain to cure, always use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by C. K. Wyly.

Cured Paralysis.

W. S. Bailey, P. O. True, Tex., writes: "My wife had been suffering five years with paralysis in her arm, when I was persuaded to use Ballard's Snow Liniment, which cured her all right. I have also used it for old sores, frost bites, and skin eruptions. I do not think $25, 50c and $1.00 bottle at R. C. Hardwick's."

EGYPTIAN ARCHITECTURE.

Sir Martin Conway Describes the Earliest Stone Building.

At the meeting of the Royal Institute of British Architects, held the other evening in London, says the Paris Messenger, Sir Martin Conway read a paper on "The Beginning of the Egyptian Style of Architecture." The lecturer said the Egyptian style appeared to have arisen about the time of the fourth dynasty, and he rapidly developed during the fifth. Until recently it was commonly believed that the early Egyptian style employed wood for small and costly edifices. In fact, however, no such Egyptian wooden architecture ever existed. The earlier Egyptian stone buildings had no architectural features whatever. It was mere building, not architecture. Down to the middle of the fourth dynasty the craft of building in stone had been carried to a high degree of perfection, but it had developed no architectural art.

The lecturer described the characteristic features of a stone building in the developed Egyptian style. Discussing the question as to when the translation of all the features and principles of Egyptian architecture invented by the mud builders, into stone took place, the lecturer said that the well-known sarcophagus of Khufuankh at Cairo threw a welcome light on that problem. The fifth dynasty had left them several actual examples of stone architecture containing decorative features. Throughout the period when true stone architecture was arising Egyptian building steadily lost its charm for the kings, the reason evidently being that, as time advanced, less of the mass of human energy under the command of the king was devoted to pyramid building and more to building of some other sort.

The lecturer next considered the character of Divine temples of the Old Empire, and referred to the evolution brought about in temple building in changes in religious ceremonial and by the gradual ousting of the priestly caste. Finally, he considered the character of the sculptured decoration applied to old empire temples and the system of its distribution.

Concluding, he said that Egypt had impressed the prestige of its magnificent name as a country of great building, and noble art on the imagination of succeeding generations. They were only now beginning to realize that the reputation of Egypt as an ancient artistic nation, so far from being exaggerated, did not attain the level it deserved.

RHODOENDRONS FOR PROFIT.

Pennsylvania Farmers Ship Plants for City Parks and Lawns.

Shipment of rhodoendrons to the city markets is an industry recently developed in Wayne, Monroe and other mountainous counties of northeastern Pennsylvania, says the Boston Budget. During the spring months many persons have been engaged in digging these shrubs from the pastures and along the creeks and loading cars for shipment.

The plants grow in bunches, around which a string is tied to keep the branches together, then by means of axes the soil is cut around the base and the plants and roots are removed from the ground with from 25 to 40 pounds of soil and sod. The shrubs are sent to New York and other cities, to be transplanted in public parks and on lawns.

The rhodoendron, or great laurel, is one of the most attractive and profitable shrub native to the Pennsylvania mountain regions. Its magnificent white flowers, clustered in bouquets among dark green, velvety leaves, are in the fullness of beauty during July and August. Nowhere else does it grow in such luxuriance and attain so high a degree of perfection as in our Appalachian mountain slopes. Long catalogued as a tree by farmers, who were unable to appreciate the beautiful in nature, the rhodoendron is now a source of profit, adding many dollars to the incomes of Pennsylvania farmers.

"So you quarreled with your wife?"
"No, sir; she quarreled with me."
"Don't you ever answer back?"
"Jeige," replied the witness, "I'm 40 years old!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Clothes from Fish Skins.

Until recently few people thought of clothing as a substitute for the material to be gained from water animals. The United States fish commission has taken up the question, and already have that several kinds of fish skins that make excellent leather for many purposes. Salmon have been found only serviceable for boots, but among the Esquimaux it has been used for garments in making waterproof clothes. The people of the very far north have used fish skins for jackets. The different skins which the fish commission has found to be most practical and durable are whale skins, porpoise skins, and seal leather, which dye in most exquisite colors.

Curious Little Animal.

A naturalist at Hanover, Cape Colony, describes many remarkable small animals which abound there. Among them is a gecko, called by the Dutch farmers "getje," whose tail comes off with a slight touch and remains jumping about on the ground, attracting the attention of the enemy, while the animal itself slinks away and eventually grows a new tail.

HENDERSON NEXT.

Four Games In Store For This Week.

The Hopkinsville Base Ball team has been playing in hard luck since the last report. Cairo took from them three straight games last week. The words "took from" are used advisedly, for the home boys claim that the umpire, Clements, gave them the rawest kind of a deal and in the last two of the three games they were unfairly beaten. The next games here will be with Henderson, beginning to-morrow and continuing four days. The game Thursday will not be called until 4:30, after the circus is over. The other games at the usual hour.

The fines must be paid in thirty days under penalty of dismissal from the service.

THREE TIED

For Burglarizing a Bicycle Repair Shop.

Will Brent, Ed. McGaughey and Ed. Pondexter, negro boys charged with breaking into W. E. Reynolds' bicycle shop, on Seventh street, about two months ago, have been captured and had their examining trial before City Judge Bell yesterday. They were held over to the September grand jury. They are charged with having stolen eight pistols and other articles.

Itan-Nic-Nic Parade On Sept. 8th.

Cincinnati, Aug. 24.—Great Itan, Chief of the mystic order of Itan-Nic-Nic, has proclaimed the date of Sept. 8th for the Night Pageant of the Nics. Symptoms of unusual activity have for some time been manifest among those suspected of belonging to the order. Not long since, quiet citizens taking an evening stroll were astonished by an unexpected procession of the Nics, making a pilgrimage to the new lodge, cave or den, whichever it is. The streets were suddenly illumined by the blaze of torches and columns of red fire, revealing hundreds of curiously clad, masked figures marching arm in arm, dancing, singing, and keeping brisk time to numerous bands of music, which enlivened their progress. They vanished as mysteriously as they came, and none were adventurous to follow them. Bystanders professed to recognize among the frolicsome crew, staid business men, merchants, brokers and more than one political leader. The Fall Festival Association, to a man, is said to be implicated in the doings of the Nics; at least that is what other people say, for the Nics never say anything in public, and the identity of each one is maintained a profound secret. One of the events of the Fall Festival is the annual parade of the Mystic Order of Itan-Nic-Nic, which draws thousands of visitors to Cincinnati on that day.

Although of comparatively recent origin, their night pageant surpasses anything of the kind given in America. Great Itan has been graciously pleased to announce, that there will be a series of twenty floats of allegorical design, illumined by 5,000 incandescent lights. The subject illustrated is one familiar to all, even to the children, whose special delight is the beautiful pageant, for them, a realization of Fairyland.

Bands of music will accompany each float, which will be surrounded by outriders in costume, and drums carrying torches. A word to the wise—come early, if you wish to secure good places, for the fame of the Itan-Nic-Nic pageant is great in the land, and thousands will come to Cincinnati on Sept. 8th especially to see it.

No less than twenty-four champion bareback riders of the world are with the Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' Enormous Shows United this season. The management claims that this statement is no mere figure of speech but is absolute fact, and that no other show has the equal to any one of them. They have always been famous as the best riding shows of America and they claim to merit the distinction this year more than ever before. They will exhibit here on Thursday, Aug. 27.

Miss Thompson Will Receive. Mrs. T. D. Armistead will entertain this evening in honor of her sister, Miss Bertha Thompson, of Louisville, who has been her guest for some time. The affair will be the society event of the week and will be largely attended.

The tents used by the Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' Enormous Shows United this year are the largest that have ever been constructed and they have been subject to a new process of waterproof, which, it is said, is entirely successful so that they afford not only shelter from the rays of the sun, but also from the rain and storm, thus insuring comfort and safety to all who visit these shows, no matter what the condition of the weather outside the tents. They will exhibit here on Thursday August 27.

NEW TURN

Taken By L. K. Taylor in Court Proceedings.

Chairman Morrison Revokes Certificate Given Lovett, Alleging Fraud.

L. K. Taylor, of Paducah, filed a suit Saturday afternoon, says the News-Democrat, in the McCracken circuit court against John G. Lovett, of Benton; C. B. Hill, Secretary of State; Chas. Graham, clerk of McCracken county, and J. N. Benson, clerk of Marshall county, asking for an injunction to prevent the defendants from placing John G. Lovett's name under the roster on the official ballot, as the Democratic nominee for commonwealth's attorney, in the Second judicial district at the election in November.

In the petition Mr. Taylor recites the fraud alleged to have been practiced at the primary on May 9, in Marshall county, specifying at what it consisted.

He also files an exhibit with the petition in the form of a document signed by Chairman C. W. Morrison, revoking his signature to a certificate issued to Lovett before the contest, which directs the secretary of state not to honor it.

There is also another exhibit filed, showing a certificate from C. W. Morrison that Taylor received a majority of the votes cast and is entitled to go under the roster.

Attorney Taylor asks in his prayer that Taylor be restrained from using the certificate first signed by C. W. Morrison on the ground that it was obtained by fraud and has since been revoked. Also that the county clerks of McCracken and Marshall be enjoined from printing Lovett's name under the roster.

The case was taken before Circuit Judge Husbands Saturday afternoon, but on his request, it was set for Monday.

There is not a parallel case to this anywhere, and the point is a new one. The question is whether or not Mr. Morrison can now withdraw his name from the certificate originally issued. This will be settled by Circuit Judge Husbands on the motion for the restraining orders.

Saturday night Mr. L. K. Taylor stated in an interview that there was yet plenty of time to call another primary to choose a candidate for commonwealth's attorney in case he should win his case Monday.

KENTUCKY AT WORLD'S FAIR.

News of the Progress of the Advance Work Dished Out in Small Doses.

Manager Wm. Robinson, of the Haldeman Warehouse, Louisville, has kindly placed at the disposal of the Kentucky Exhibit Association about 5,000 square feet of floor space in the basement of this building and the Association has decided to make it the depot for mineral exhibits, which are now being collected. Already ten barrels of crude oil have come from different districts in Kentucky. The first of the ores to arrive was two barrels of zinc from Owen county.

The Kentucky Exhibit Association contemplates paying the entire expense of all live stock sent from the state to the World's Fair for exhibition purposes. The Exposition officials have offered $250,000 in premiums. The Association may give in addition a medal to every Kentucky prize winner.

Editor O. E. Hurst, of Millersburg, writes the Exhibit Association that a collection of bones and relics of a pre-historic monster has been found at Lower Blue Lick Springs that is worthy a place at the St. Louis exposition. One tusk of the monster measures eight feet in length.

The giant hippopotamus with the Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers consolidated shows has grown so large that a new den had to be constructed for his mightiness to ride in. It is the largest ever built and is handled by a team of twenty horses. The utmost care must be taken in loading it on the show trains because of its enormous size. The beast continues to grow and there seems to be no limit to its ultimate size. Already he is larger in the body than a majority of elephants. He easily is the leading feature of a wonderfully complete menagerie carried with the consolidation. It will exhibit here on Thursday, Aug. 27.

WILLIE COWAN

Strikes It Rich at Saratoga Races.
—$150,000 to the Good.

A Saratoga, N. Y., special says that "Billy" Cowan, one of the bookmakers from Chicago, has struck it rich. The dispatch says:

At a rough estimate, nearly three-quarters of a million dollars have been added to the bank rolls of the men who have stuck to legitimate bookmaking. Those who resort to the in and out and hedging game have lost. A man with the strict business principles of "Billy" Cowan could not possibly lose.

There is no means of finding out positively how much richer Cowan is today than he was at the opening of the meeting, but the sum is large, not one cent less than $150,000. It has been a case of "every day the same" with him. He handles any commission that comes along at a fair market price. For instance, a heavy better will say, "I'll bet you $10,000 on such and such horse." Cowan, perhaps, has 2 to 1 marked as the market price. He will reply: You can leave it all here at $17,000 to $10,000." This is no doubt satisfactory to the player, as it is a better price than he could average if he went shopping around the ring. Commissions of that kind have been handed in to Cowan, and frequently two and three in a face on different horses. The result is that he is not only handling nearly all the big money, but he is getting a better percentage for it than the majority of his neighbors, as they have to go to a higher figure to get a horse played, which, of course, reduces their percentages.

Yet with all the big money that Cowan handles there have been an abundance for others, the reports of individual winnings averaging anywhere from $5,000 to $50,000.
